Description

For your consideration is this lovely English Art Deco mantle clock, dating to the 1930's and newly serviced. Images taken outside in natural daylight so you get a true colour representation. The green onyx colouring is a gorgeous leafy green which works beautifully with the black marble base and the highly polished brass accents. Brass fretted out numerals are behind a brass bezel. The condition of the casing is superb having been fully dismantled and cleaned and re assembled. The back of the clock houses the movement and is a regular wind up, no pendulums involved. Newly serviced so comes to you in good working condition. Offered with FREE UK mainland delivery
