Description

A fine example of a late 18thc oak farmhouse table....it has gained a wonderful natural mellow colour that oak goes with years of use and what makes this table very special is the size....less than five feet in length, but it will comfortably seat six people...in very good condition....the feet have all been re-tipped a long time ago as it probably stood on a damp floor for most of its life....a very nice English table.... English. C1760-80.
