Description

A Fine Mid-18th Century French Louis XV Period Oak Side or Occasional Table with Panelled and Moulded Detailing. This charming table dates to the middle of the 18th century and is of excellent colour. The three plank top features a simple edge moulding and the frieze of the piece also features a moulded edge of a much more complex pattern, combined with a shaped apron. The table has a single drawer at both ends with the original handles and stands on finely shaped cabriole legs with restrained hoof form feet. The combination of a relatively simple overall form and rococo detailing works very well indeed and the table is a charming and interesting piece of provincial French furniture of this period.
