Description

A Stunning Arts & Crafts Patinated Copper and Leaded Glass Hall Lantern Circa 1900. The copper frame with pierced canopy above an upper ring with hammered lozenge detail. Adjoined with three interspaced arms with similar hand finished detail and flared feet. A simple riveted ring to the base completes the frame. The three leaded stained glass panels are a particular feature. Each pane is decorated with a large centred four-point star with faceted red glass. These are surrounded with an array of lovely soft colours of different textured glass all adding to its charm. In very good condition apart from one pane of glass which has a small area of cracking which can see in the photos, but there are no losses. The lantern is a really good example from a period of skilled artisans. It has been rewired and is ready to hang. The height given is without any chain so its drop can be altered to suit your interior space.
