

SA1003442

Derby porcelain dish, Botanical study, William 'Quacker' Pegg, c. 1815.

Price

Sold

Item Reference: SA1003442

Date of manufacture: 19th Century

Dimensions

Height = 20.5 cm (8.1")

Width = 25.5 cm (10.0")

Description

Derby porcelain botanical dish, c. 1815. The kidney shaped dish, probably painted by William 'Quacker' Pegg, with a titled study of 'Purple Brompton Stock'. The border finely gilded with Classical urns, amongst scrolling foliage, and between acanthus leaf motif. Titled in iron red 'Purple Brompton Stock', crossed red batons, and crowned 'D' mark. Width - 25.5 cm, 10". Height - 20.5 cm, 8 1/8". Condition - Minor wear to the gilding, commensurate with its age. No damage. No restoration. I believe that the scripted title is in the hand of William 'Quacker' Pegg. It compares favourably with known examples.

Seller Details

Philip Carrol Antiques

North Yorkshire United Kingdom

Tel: 07860 525 579

International Tel: +44 7860 525 579