Description

Antique Khorasan carpets are a type of handwoven rugs that originate from the historical region of Khorasan, which is located in northeastern Persia. These carpets are highly esteemed for their exquisite craftsmanship, intricate designs, and use of premium materials. This piece has a wonderful all-over design of repeating palmettes and a fabulous flowing vine border. All the colours are of vegetable origin, so are soft in tone creating a wonderful looking carpet. The condition is good in general, the fringes and sides are secure and strong. With the main field showing some signs of wear and lower pile, this just adds to the character and appeal of this beautiful antique Khorasan. If we can show you this carpet at home or in our showroom soon, it would be our pleasure, please make contact in your preferred way.
