Description

A pretty Art Nouveau style wall light dating from the late 19th / early 20th Century with a beautiful vaseline glass shade. It is excellent quality with a scrolling copper arm and stylised dolphin head above the shade. It has been re-wired to modern standards and takes a standard bayonet bulb. We would always recommend that the light is installed by a professional electrician. It is in good condition for its age. The copper has been lightly cleaned and polished and it displays well. There are minor signs of age and use but no major damages or anything detrimental. Approximate Measurements : Height : 10" / 26cm Projection from Wall : 14" / 36cm Diameter of Shade : 4 3/4" / 12cm The best description comes from the photographs so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
