Description

This late 18th-century oil painting depicts a pious upstanding 17th-century cleric. Acquired from Scandinavia, the history of this splendid portrait is somewhat enigmatic. He's wearing a modest outfit consisting of a large billowing shirt that emerges from the sleeves, a white collar with tassels, and a black skull cap. His attire matches the expectations of the 1650s/1660s and he feels a little Dutch in appearance. Previously, it's been attributed as a 17th-century work but we feel that it's a later copy. Perhaps produced for a noble family to indicate its lineage. Held within a gilt frame. Medium: Oil on canvas Overall size: 35½" x 39½" / 90cm x 100cm Year of creation: c. 1780 Condition: Artwork presents well. Fine craquelure but the paint is stable. Minor pitting. Restoration. Canvas relined. Frame with some light wear.
