Description

For your consideration is this fabulously stylish 1930's Art Deco cocktail cabinet. This dry bar dates to the 1930's and has all the bells and whistles you want from a cocktail cabinet. The upper interior has a mirrored base and mirrored backing. The chrome lemon squeezer which is always usually missing and the coloured bakelite cocktail sticks are all there and present. The lower section of the cabinet opens to reveal a very generously sized shelving space for glasses and bottles. This area will take full size liquor bottles and has a fretted out differing sized circles to allow for different sized bottles. If all this wasn't enough the cabinet itself is veneered in the most glorious walnut, with heavily figured patterns and in a warm mid tone colouring, the ivory coloured bakelite & chrome handles finish this piece to perfection. We've had the whole cabinet restored and so comes to you in great condition. There is some foxing to the mirroring. Overall size of this cabinet is also very appealing, large enough to house all your requirements but not so big and rambling to take over a room. Offered with FREE UK mainland delivery
