Item Reference: SA1007661

Date of manufacture: 1900

Description

Three buff stoneware jugs with relief decorations of fox hunting dating from 1894 to early 20th century. Mark to the base is referenced '180288 England'. The three jugs are 15 cm, 13 cm and 10 cm in height. All three are in good condition. No cracks or chips. In 1867 the Spode china company's official trading name was changed to Copeland & Sons. It reverted back to Spode in 1970. However, Spode was so well known that the name was incorporated with that of Copeland.
