Description

Behold a truly captivating pair of Irish Victorian iron single beds, adorned in a resplendent hand-textured finish. Their exquisite form is a testament to the craftsmanship of a bygone era, with delicately fashioned contours and intricate castings that beckon admiration. Meticulously restored to their former glory, these beds have undergone a thorough rejuvenation process. Every joint has been scrutinized to ensure impeccable alignment, while the side rails have been reinforced and skillfully modified to accommodate wooden slats. The frames, treated with the utmost care, have been subject to the alchemy of shot blasting and priming, a prelude to the artisanal touch of Little Greene paint company's Pleat and Middle Buff hues. A veil of dark wax has been lovingly applied, not merely as a preservation measure, but as an ode to the history these beds carry. A harmonious symphony of colors and textures, paying homage to the timeless elegance of the Victorian era. Envision these beds, harmoniously united to form an occasional super king size haven, a testament to the versatility they offer. With an air of refined hospitality, they lend themselves perfectly to guest chambers ...
