Description

A bamboo sheathed sword stick from the time of William IV with an antler handle and a brass collar at the handle and the top of the sheath. There are initials for WAJ on the handle collar and, on the steel sword, an inscription, ANNO 1830. The steel sword is slender good condition and tapers to a very fine point. The sheath culminates with the original brass ferrule. As a walking stick it feels very sturdy and it is in good condition commensurate with age.
