Description

This charming autumnal landscape by Anglo-Dutch artist, Abraham Hulk Junior (1844-1922) depicts a picturesque view with country track, figures, and distant hill. A tight blanket of dense clouds hover as light flickers from puddles of trodden earth. The partially bereft branches indicate the season, their wind-battered forms buried in foliage. He's heading towards a distant field, clutching his daughter's hand - the path ahead peppered with golden hay. Hulk Junior treasured the British countryside. Its transient weather, damp autumnal hikes, twisting country tracks and pastoral idylls. He held a particular fondness for Autumn. Signed/dated lower right and held within a later swept frame. Medium: Oil on canvas Overall size: 21½" x 29½" / 54cm x 75cm Year of creation: c. 1900 Condition: Artwork presents well. Canvas relined. Frame with some light wear. Artist's auction maximum: £7,817 Abraham Hulk Junior was trained by his father, the notable maritime painter, Abraham Hulk the Elder (1813-1897). He exhibited at the Royal Academy, Royal Society of British Artists and Walker Art Gallery in Liverpool. Learn more about Abraham Hulk Junior in our directory.
