Description

The unique French Empire mahogany commode boasts Empire-style columns accented with contrasting brass hardware depicting grapevines and floral designs, enhancing its grandeur. The piece features a concealed frieze drawer, intelligently sectioned into three compartments for discreet storage. Topping the commode is a sleek marble surface with a straight edge, exuding sophistication. Adding to its allure, blossom wreath escutcheons grace the front of the three main drawers. This masterpiece harmoniously blends opulence with functionality, capturing the essence of the Empire style while catering to practical needs. In a home-ready, recently restored condition, signs of wear commensurate with age. Originates from France. Dated as circa 1890. Made from Mahogany and Marble.
