Description

A superb and large size French Bronze Sculpture by the master Math. Moreau. Beautifully sculptured and named La Rosee. A beautiful maiden with her scarf flowing in the air. Signed on the side and also on the name plate to the front. This rare and elegant bronze is in good condition for the home. Height 51.5 cm Width 24 cm Depth 11 cm Mathurin Moreau born 1822, died 1912. The eldest son of sculptor and painter Jean-Baptiste Moreau, and brother to Auguste and Hippolte. Math debuted at the Salon in 1848, he worked for a period of time at the foundry of Val d'Osne, and in his later years became one of its administrators. Many of his works can be seen around Paris, as he worked for Saint-Augustin and Trinite' churches, the Opera, the palais de Justice, city hall, the Tuileries and the pavillon of Marsan at the Louvre. His smaller sculptures were of statues, statuettes and groups in pleasant decorative themes.
