Description

A beautiful and elegant necklace by the Norwegian silversmith David Andersen. The necklace is made up of twelve white guilloché enamel panels and twelve blue flower enamel squares linked alternately. Each panel is gently curved so the necklace sits snugly on the collarbone. On the back are the marks for David Andersen 925s Norway Sterling. There is a good fastening slip over catch. A very pretty and wearable necklace - great for a collector of vintage Norwegian designer jewellery. Condition: Great pre-owned condition. Period: Mid century. Measurements: Length 16" (41cm) Width: 1.2cm Weight: 45 grams Weights and measurements are approximate.
