Description

A beautiful and elegant antique French brass and marble console table, dating from around the 1930's. It is very well made and has an absolutely gorgeous design. The tapered legs are finely fluted, with lovely embellishments throughout the base. This has a beautiful green marble top which has a serpentine shape and chamfered lower edges. The condition is very good for its age. The brass frame has a nice overall patina, the marble has some minor wear to the surface and one very small chip to the outer corner on one side, and one very tiny chip in the centre of the table top, seen in the images.
