Description

Early C19th George IV period rosewood library table attributed to Gillows of Lancaster. Elegant free-standing library table of 'd-ended' design, fitted with 4 drawers. The figured rosewood top above a frieze with 'cock-beaded' panel reserves with a carved moulding to the lower edge.. Raised on a cheval-type base with flat standard-end supports with corresponding beaded panel detail and scroll-carved quadrant blocks. The shaped legs fitted with original foliate-cast brass cap castors, the base joined by a turned stretcher. The opposing sides of double drawers having 'cock-beaded' edges, all fitted with their original turned knob-pulls, the drawers all having original brass locks and mahogany linings (keys lacking). One drawer fitted with an original partition probably for pens or ink bottles. A high quality library of practical scale and proportions in excellent original condition with a rich colour and patina. The design elements and quality of the table suggesting a firm attribution to the esteemed cabinet-making firm of Gillows of Lancaster and London. H 30" W 52" D 24" England c.1825
