Description

Handsome Edwardian hall stand / robe made from gorgeous honey oak by A Gardener & son of Glasgow. This is a very useful antique that has everything you will need in your hall, an oval glass mirror to check on your appearance before you go out, underneath a small drawer for keys and an umbrella/ stick stand with original drip tray. To the right a full length cupboard with slide rail for coats with space above for hats. The colouring and patina of this hall stand is gorgeous and the graining is wonderful. It is in excellent condition with only historic knocks and marks which are to be expected on a item of it's age however these only add to the character and charm of this very functional antique hall stand. This is striking piece of antique furniture that will be a wonderful addition to any entrance. A. Gardner & Son were cabinet makers based at 36 Jamaica Street, Glasgow in Scotland. Starting in the Georgian era of 1803 by his Grandfather, A Gardner took over the business in 1832 and the company continued for over 150 years of creating fine furniture.
