Description

A superb English George III walnut wing back armchair of excellent shape & proportions. The back with straight top flanked by out swept side wings, scrolling outwards to form armrests which terminate in an elegant tightly scrolled column. Supported on acanthus and flowerhead-carved cabriole legs terminating in ball-and-claw feet and with swept rear cabriole legs terminating in a pad shaped foot. A chair of a particularly good shape and form, being generous enough in proportions for comfort without looking large. The elegant walnut front & rear cabriole legs being a notable feature. The chair is covered in a wonderful Navy blue cotton velvet . Condition: Excellent. The chair has been completely stripped to the frame, joints tightened or repaired where necessary. Re-upholstered in a wonderful traditional fabric.
