Description

Early C19th Regency period brass-mounted mahogany cellarette or wine-cooler of classical sarcophagus form with a noble armorial. Figured and flamed mahogany cellarette raised on exaggerated carved leaf-wrapped lion's paw feet with original concealed brass castors beneath, having a stepped lid with a central acanthus-leaf carved oblong block. The ovoid panelled front bearing a large cast brass noble or heraldic device to the centre, featuring a seated stag-hound, his raised paw upon an antlered stag's head, above a baronial bar. The panelled ends both with well-defined cast brass lion's mask ring handles. The brass hinged lid fitted with a brass restraining chain, revealing a capacious polished interior capable of holding a dozen or more bottles of wine and spirits. Fitted with the original brass lock and key. In excellent original condition with a rich colour and patina to the well-selected grade of mahogany. A practical and decorative cellarette of good scale and proportions. Possibly Irish. H 19" W 32" D 19" Ireland c.1820
