Description

This is a charming oil painting in giltwood frame of a young boy on a beach, dating from the late 19th century. The boy is captured in his very smart checked suit and straw boater, with contrasting crimson belt and stockings, with spade for digging. Quite a handsome young gentleman, his backdrop is the choppy sea, the beach and islands in the background. The portrait is beautifully executed and is presented in a quality gilt wood Kent type frame with gilt arched mount. It measures 45 cms by 38 cms including the frame and was originally framed by J D Spence of Dublin. UK insured packing and delivery is £15
