Description

An Irish, George II period, mahogany drop-leaf dining table, doing from the mid C18th. Featuring a thick, solid, very high quality, well figured, mahogany top of oval form, with rounded edge. Constructed from 3 leaves of early, very heavy mahogany. The end leaves are supported by single gate legs. Plain frieze, one end with a drawer with brass double swan neck pull handle. All raised on cabriole legs with carved knees on pointed toe pad feet. A excellent original table, with no obvious signs of repair or damage. Extremely heavy. Cleaned, waxed and very much ready for use. Dimensions: This table measures approximately 70 cm (29.5") tall, 135 cm (53") wide leaves up, and 44 cm (17.25") wide leaves down, 122 cm (48") deep. The top is 7/8" thick. Condition: Please see the pictures for details of the items condition. - This table is in very good condition, commensurate with its age, and is structurally sound and sturdy. Mostly original, other than the replacement handle. No obvious signs of repair or damage, other than a couple of carving chipped on two of the knees on the legs. Some historic extinct old worm holes to the secondary timbers, which has all been fully treat...
