Description

We are delighted to offer this elegant antique solid silver Victorian coffee pot made in London in 1866 with the marks of Robert Garrard. Garrard (founded in 1735), still producing fine silverware and jewellery today, throughout history has been serving and producing exceptional pieces of silver and jewellery for the British Royal Family. The firm was appointed Crown Jeweller by Queen Victoria in 1843 which may come as no surprise upon examining the exceptional quality, craftsmanship and designs of their silverware/jewellery. Unsurprisingly, this coffee pot features a wonderful elegant form with intricate engraved decorations. The wider and curved base allows for the coffee pot to sit sturdily, giving a reassuring feel upon usage whilst also allowing for a wider surface to be embellished. The embellishments are of 'Abercorn pattern' and feature intricate geometric motifs that accentuate the individual 'segments' around the entire circumference of the pot. In addition to the body of the pot, the spout is beautifully cast and applied with floral and foliate side panels and a wonderfully stippled acanthus leaf joining the two sections (seen from above).
