Description

Large early C19th George IV period mahogany open wine-cooler or cistern of classical sarcophagus form. Impressively-scaled 'flame' figured mahogany wine-cooler with broad canted tapering corners , applied carved mouldings to the top and bottom edges , raised on a plinth base with original recessed brass castors on the underside. The end sides each fitted with a cast bronze carrying handle depicting a mask of Bacchus, God of wine and celebration. The interior with a polished surface , perhaps originally with a zinc or lead liner to hold chilled wine and champagne . A replacement liner could be re-fitted if desired to client's specification. In excellent condition with a rich colour and patina. Of free-standing form, could be used perhaps both as a wine cellarette or as a jardiniere. H 17" W 30" D 21" England c.1825
