Description

A William IV Library or Writing Table circa 1830 by the renowned Dublin firm of Williams & Gibton. The table has a superbly grained and richly hued mahogany top set above two deep side drawers with turned and paired knobs and blank drawer fronts opposite. The paired end supports have superbly carved scrolled feet of typical William IV form. The strong design of this handsome table aligned with the use of very high quality veneer and excellence of its crisp carving reveal it as a very fine example of Williams & Gibtons work. The table carries the makers stamp on the drawer. The firm of Williams & Gibton 1830 - 1844 evolved from the cabinet makers of the Mack, Williams and Gibton 1811-1829 which were a company based in Dublin and who were considered to be the finest cabinet makers in Ireland. They were appointed upholstery and cabinet makers to his majesty his excellency and Lord Lieutenant in 1806.
