Description

Large Swedish Trestle Table Rare primitive trestle table with X legs, known as a 'drinking table: locally this large dining table would of been borrowed by familes from the larger farmhouses for large feasts and events, this is what makes them rare. As there were typically only 1/2 larger houses in the rural villages of Estonia. A small country with a strong medieval and traditional history in Northern Europe. The patina is according to its use and the character reflects decades of use, imagine the history of this unique table 274cm x 95cm x 77cm
