Description

This very interesting cabinet has a facade of inlaid drawers, doors, small columns and carved detail that were probably made in Augsburg or Ulm in Germany between 1580 and 1600. The rest of the cabinet can only be described as a creation - the feet are wrong (originally there would have been bun feet), the top should not open, the back and underneath have plywood panels. Though there have been significant replacements the fundamentals of this "Nonsuch" chest are there and as a consequence it is a rare survivor. Size: Height - 18.25" (46.5cm) Width - 23" (58.5cm) Depth - 12.25" (31cm)
