Description

A tall late 19thc Victorian Art Nouveau cranberry glass vase c1880. The cranberry part rises from a bulbous base upwards to a three sumptuous naturalistic petals which alternately sweep outwards and turn back in with a frill and pinch in the glass. The clear base has a pontil mark. There is a tiny air notch in one place which occurred when the glass was hand blown. Very good condition, no damage at all, with a good true cranberry hue.
