Description

A large and heavy bronze 6 light Chandelier. The classical Baroque style lamp, exactly captures the Venetian style of the 16th century Venice, and is an extremely rare turn of the century, exacting throw back to the neo classical designs by Venetian Architect Andrea Palladio. Palladian architecture is a European architectural style derived from the work of the Venetian architect Andrea Palladio (1508-1580). This patinated Bronze is large and dominating but with an elegance and very cosmopolitan baluster lamp. The top finial surmounts an extraordinary Solid Bronze Baluster stem with scrolled and elaborately cordoned arms holding white illuminescent satin glass downlighter shades. The pagination and bronze casting is unique and beyond compare.

Internal Ref: Palladian lamp
