Description

A fabulous pair of early 18th/ 19th Century Foo dog censors in brass. Decorated allover with winged legs and shoulders and a battle headdress, they are heavy with each one weighing in at 4.6 kg. There is a loss of one leg wing and part of a shoulder wing tip to one dog which we only noticed whilst photographing them. However, It doesn't in anyway take away from them. They are the best and most impressive we have seen with an imposing presence, atmosphere and sense of antiquity. We can deliver free of charge in UK mainland and can calculate the cost for International delivery. Payment by bank transfer, PayPal or card via telephone.
