Description

A 19th century Chinese elm bench. The bench is a two-person bench of classic form; it is substantial and stands firm. The wood has a truly outstanding patina throughout with remnants of red paint to the top. There is some evidence of historic woodworm in areas which has been treated in abundance of caution. A lovely practical piece of furniture perfect for use as table seating, a boot room bench or standing shelf. Please note we have another similar bench available.
