Description

Anatolian antique Ushak carpet woven around 1890-1900 with a beautiful all over design of large floral designs and vines. Amazing cherry red/pink tones for the background, which have faded in areas due to the carpets age, making it full of character and interest. Vivid green border is a rare dye, and a wonderful contrast to the cherry red dyes, bright gold tones, teal blues and aubergines complete the palette. Due to the age of this carpet some old areas of restoration are apparent, with some old reweaves at the ends/fringe area. There are some areas of lower pile in the main field, but no thread bare areas or holes to speak of. The general pile is very good, with a medium wool pile height on this 130 year old carpet from Ushak in Turkey.
