Description

An 11" square dial clock of particularly elegant proportions. The case with the original ebonised finish, and finely cut blind fret above the hood door. The dial signed John Winkles of London, having a subsidiary seconds dial and date aperture, with spandrels favoured by Charles Gretton and Christopher Gould. The eight day movement with five knopped and ringed pillars, striking the hours. A very fine and early clock. c. 1710 Height 83"
