Description

Here we have a pretty pair of Antique gold-cased watch key fob pendants, one having a foiled back Citrine and the other an Amethyst shaped into a shield, both with Bloodstone agate on the reverse. They feature beautifully engraved detailing throughout and look brilliant together attached to your favourite chain. Originally used to wind up a pocket watch, this would now look great worn as a pendant on a chain around your neck. These would make a wonderful gift or a great addition to any collection. We could also have these converted into earrings if you wanted! METAL Gold Cased STONES Amethyst Citrine Bloodstone Agate MEASUREMENTS The amethyst watch key measures 2.9cm x 0.9cm The citrine watch key measures 2.9cm x 0.9cm Stones measure 7mm x 6.5mm WEIGHT Combined weight: 4.5 grams CONDITION These two Antique watch keys remain in very good condition for their age. The stones are secure and free from any chips with just some light surface wear. The engraving and body of the watch keys are in good condition, too, demonstrating excellent craftsmanship and giving them a robust look. These charms would make a lovely addition to your collection, worn as a pair or on the...
