Description

This Good Quality Edwardian Inlaid Mahogany Occasional Table offers both practicality along with decorative appeal. Standing on tapered legs, that have generous Satinwood bandings to them, finishing with a refined shaped toe. The stretcher rails add strength, and meet a small lower shelf to the middle. The side rails are themselves inlaid with a decorative Satinwood banding. The beautifully figured Mahogany top, with its edge moulding is also inlaid with a Satinwood banding. The dense Mahogany has a lovely deep warm tone, that contrasts so sharply with the Satinwood inlay. Being made of such good quality timber, the table is of a generous weight, aiding stability. Would work well in either a traditional or contemporary interior décor and can be placed anywhere in a room as it is finished all round.
