Description

Early 20th Century Wrought Iron Occasional Table with Marble Top • Early 20th Century circa 1920 • Wrought Iron Base with Marble Top • Delightfully aged and rustic appearance • Light and open design • Ideal lamp table • Upper diameter: 33cm Diameter of base area: 47cm • H: 70cm (27.6") W: 47cm (18.5") Di: 33cm (13") This pretty diminutive wrought iron side table from the early 20th century is rather unusual, possibly unique, is of a good age with a charmingly rustic look. It has a marble top that sits in the top and originally would have supported a candle as the holder is still present and intact. It has little highlights in the form of pressed metal flowers and decorative scroll work. For its delicate appearance, it is surprisingly strong and stands well and true. It is a great piece for supporting your bottle of wine and/or glass and has lovely proportions and is a wonderfully light and airy piece to have anywhere in the home or garden.
