Description

A very interesting oil on canvas landscape in the impressionist manner by A Wood. The scene wonderfully depicts a scene of a lane over a stone bridge all in dappled light. The piece has a great use of thick impasto oil paint applied boldly giving a feel for texture and light. The work is not signed but retains the artist label on the reverse indicating it was an exhibited piece. The artist's name A.Wood is clearly visible but I have been unable to identify the artist specifically. The painting has been professionally cleaned and some minor restoration made. The large and impressive painted frame is the original and has a great Art Deco look. The whole piece has a wonderful period look and is a fine example of English impressionism. C.1930. Overall sizes in inches including frame: 29 ³/₄ by 25 ³/₄
