Description

This mid-19th-century oil painting by French artist Louis Paul Pierre Dumont (1822-1885) depicts a coastal view with distant boats, figures and buildings. It's reminiscent of Normandy. The tempestuous sea, where full-rigged ships battle the elements, rolls its breakers over a sandy beach. Promenading crowds look on, gathering by shop fronts eager for passing trade. Two upstanding ladies clutch parasols. Old friends with long stories catch up on the shingle. Dumont is primarily known for his exquisite engravings, yet also exhibited numerous paintings at the Paris Salon. His works in oil often carry a light-hearted, almost playful, quality. He painted here numerous times and his joy for this particular environment is clear to see. Perhaps he spent time in a hotel on the main thoroughfare. Signed lower right and held within a gilt frame. Medium: Oil on canvas Overall size: 35½" x 25½" / 90cm x 65cm Year of creation: c. 1870 Labels & Inscriptions: Old exhibition label on the reverse. Provenance: Private collection, Germany.
