Description

A large early 18th century (circa 1700) oak gateleg table of exceptional patina. This table consists of a six plank solid oak top of exceptional patina with one drawer below (this has been replaced at a later date) with brass knob handle. The table is supported on finely turned legs and gates with nicely worn stretchers, all of superb patina. This table is in very good condition for age with some old repairs, is of stable construction and can go straight into a home - this table will comfortably seat six, possibly up to eight - a great table for the Christmas lunch! Size: Height: 27.75" / 70.5cm Width: 62.5" / 158.75cm (leaves open) 21" / 53.25cm (leaves closed) Depth: 53" / 134.5cm
