Description

A charming antique rose gold fob with a decorative border around a shield cartouche. The fob has an heraldic look to the fob with its symmetrical shield shape, the and pierced decoration and crisp engraving. The cartouche is un-engraved which gives the option to personalise the fob as a gift by adding initials or an inscription. The fob could also be worn as an unusual rose gold pendant rather than a key fob. Hallmarked on the reverse 375 for 9ct gold by Birmingham Assay Office, dated 1914 with the makers for William James Dingley. In lovely condition.
