Description

We are delighted to offer this spectacular antique Edwardian 15ct gold turquoise, diamond and pearl pendant necklace made c.1910. Apparent upon a quick glance, this pendant presents an exquisite & elegant bow and heart-shaped Edwardian design that is unlike any modern/contemporary pieces. Impressive fine gold mounts and ornate curved borders are complemented by seed pearls that taper in size and have been set meticulously. This particular example features some of the most desirable and finest traits found in this type of pendant. In the three-tier design, each gold-mounted section moves freely from one another; a testament to the goldsmith's skill and craftsmanship. The centre of the pendant is further highlighted by a freely suspended 'puffy' heart which is profusely set from edge to edge with more pearls and a single diamond embedded within a ring of turquoise stones. This design truly comes to life and can be most appreciated upon wearing in natural lighting with movement. Upon holding in hand or wearing, there is a reassuring quality weight/feel that is superior to counterpart pendants of this era and design. Overall, a superb and exemplary piece of fine Edw...
