Description

A superb antique Victorian carved oak three tier console table of excellent quality and rich colour. The upper section features an elegant pierced and carved back with classical detail, giving the piece strong presence while remaining refined. Raised on beautifully turned and carved columns, the three graduated tiers provide generous space for serving, display, or storage. The proportions are particularly well judged, offering a slim profile that fits easily within a room while still being highly practical. Originally used in dining rooms as a serving stand, pieces such as this would have held dishes, drinks, and tableware during meals, acting as a secondary buffet. Today it translates perfectly as a console table, buffet server, bar stand, or shelving unit, making it a highly versatile piece for both traditional and contemporary interiors. The quality of the carving and the depth of the oak colour indicate a well-made example, produced for a good home rather than mass manufacture. Condition Report Presented in very good antique condition with a pleasing aged patina. Light surface wear consistent with age and use. Structurally sound and ready for use. Height: 86.5 c...
