Description

We are delighted to offer this spectacular Georgian solid silver gilt charger/sideboard dish made in London, 1809. Splendour, grand, dazzling, opulent; with certainly no shortage of choice in describing such an impressionable and ornate piece, this sideboard dish is rather self-explanatory in presenting itself in all its might. Even upon a quick glance, the size, presence and overall rich gold lustre leaves the eye desiring more. Upon closer inspection, the level of high-relief chasing, intricate stippling and engravings are ever more apparent. The outer wreath consists of wonderful naturalistic motifs of flowers, fruits and foliate scrolls that intertwine. The high relief of the flower petals and fruit makes for a three-dimensional effect, giving a more lifelike appearance as if to invite the onlooker to gaze at this magnificent dish from multiple different angles. Despite its substantial proportions and profuse embellishments, every decorative element presents an exceptional degree of accuracy and finesse which, even upon close inspection, does not disappoint. Whilst handling and inspecting in person, one can truly appreciate and imagine the painstaking ef...
