Description

An exceptionally rare early 17th Century oak press cupboard, complete and original with no new timbers and with all original carved panels and frieze. Two old paper labels on the inner faces of the upper section doors – one of which states that it was removed from Penley Hall Flintshire in the Fields in 1796 and another states that the cupboard is 'from Penley Hall, with our grandmother when she left home in 1796. Mr Parry the auctioneer tells us that he sold a similar cabinet from Mrs Dymock of Penley Hall a few years ago to the Duke of Westminster?' (Edward Dymock of Penley Hall was High Sheriff of Flintshire in 1842). This cupboard probably formed part of the grandmother's dowry. Of superb colour and patination and in exceptional and rarely found original condition. The dimensions are 62 inches high, 25 inches deep (max) and 63 inches wide (max at cornice). Height above and below inner shelf – 15 inches above, 17 inches below. In upper cabinets – each door opening to an aperture 12 by 15 inches but more height and width internally in these cupboards. For metric multiply all dimensions by 2.5 We give an expert, caring and honest personal service to all of our...
