Description

A superb quality, wonderfully comfortable and very substantial Victorian wingback armchair with substantial cabriole legs – well carved with scallop shells to the knees and scrolled hips - set on wide trifid feet in the Queen Anne manner. . The chair has been newly and fully re-upholstered before being covered in this heavy weight, thickly woven Zoffany fabric of early 18th century design in a deep burgundy plum and antique gold colourway. . The chair has a solid walnut showframe and dates from around 1890. It is robust with no repairs, damage, weakness, creaks or movement in the joints. . Very heavy, the rear walnut legs which are well shaped and raked slightly back – both front and rear legs are made and carved in the solid and have a lovely colour. . The chair retains its original deal and oak subframe and photographs taken during by the upholsterers during their work are available – please do just ask. . The back has a beautiful shape with wide swept wings and rolled out arms. The back, arms and seat are very well padded and the chair comes with a deep feather filled squab cushion. . Very roomy between the arms with a wide and deep seat, the back is tall...
