Description

We are delighted to offer this fabulous antique Victorian ring made in Birmingham in 1897. The ring features a charming flower cluster design at the top adorned with 4 turquoise gemstones, pearls and once central antique rose-cut diamond. The gold setting in 15ct antique gold presents a rich and warm gold tone that elegantly contrasts the vivid blue and white colours. Distinctly Victorian and distinguishing itself from contemporary pieces, the shoulders of the ring feature a slightly convex and 'puffy' design which is further embellished with two dots and a stippled line. On the inside of the shank, a full array of crisp English hallmarks are present and are a lovely example of well-stuck hallmarks in such a small area. Overall, a wonderful addition to any jewellery collection, whether be it for wearing as a single standout piece or amongst other antique pieces. This ring certainly would grace the hands of a discerning antique lover with unapologetic Victorian flair and opulence. Turquoise is known to be the birthstone for December, diamonds for April and pearls for June. All of our rings come with a complimentary modern hard shell ring gift box with a vel...
