Description

We are delighted to offer this splendid antique aquamarine pendant necklace set in 9ct gold - Edwardian c.1905. Elegant and charming, this pendant captures the essence of Art Nouveau design with naturalistic motifs of foliate scrolls, each section adorned with seed pearls of various sizes. The central section features a flower with a single-faced aquamarine that is of a gorgeous light blue hue with a hint of white sparkle. This aquamarine is well matched with the bottom lavalier drop that is suspended freely and adds movement upon wearing. This design truly comes to life and can be most appreciated upon wearing in natural lighting. A wonderful piece of fine Edwardian jewellery whether it be a special gift or for a personal collection, this pendant would make for a perfect addition for the antique jewellery and amethyst lover. Aquamarine is known to be the birthstone for March and pearls for June. The pendant has a 9ct hallmark on the back. Ready to wear out of the box: All of our pendants also include the photographed complimentary 9ct solid gold (modern) chain so that you can enjoy your newly acquired treasure straight out of the box.
