Description

A Victorian silver handle and tortoiseshell letter opener with hallmarks for Birmingham 1881. The handle is made in a spiralling cornucopia shape which fits the palm of the hand very comfortably. The combination of silver and tortoiseshell was very popular in the late 19th and early 20th century. The tortoiseshell shaft has a lovely varied brown and gold colour with no damage. The silver handle has a couple of tiny dents at the tip consistent with use but there are no breaks or splits in the silver, which is intact. A beautiful desk accessory for use by either a lady or gent.
