Description

Type of artwork: Original Oil Painting Surface: Canvas Artist and signature: Signed E A Bowers and inscribed on labels verso Lady Ethel Harris Chivers Harris nee Bower She Studied at Royal College of Art and became a member of 'The Slade Girls' as a student of Alphonse Legros at the University of London's Slade School of Art. They were responsible for a large number of the cast medals produced during the revival in Britain in the 1880s and 1890s. The majority of these students were women, and, as is the case with many women artists, they are now shadowy figures about whom little is known. Yet in their day their work attracted the attention of the art press, including an article by Charlotte Weeks entitled 'Women at Work: the Slade Girls' Lady Harris, who as Ethel Bower had studied under Lanteri and who continued to make medals for many years, admitted in 1928 that 'the demand for this form of portraiture (medallic) is, at present, very limited in England' Approximate age of artwork: Dated (19)18 Depiction or Location: Still life study of Flowers Is the artwork Framed or Mounted: Unframed Condition report: The artwork is considered to be in fair condition in line...
